

General Information and Facts

Twin Sisters

City of Rocks National Reserve, designated on November 18, 1988 (located in southern Cassia County), is cooperatively managed by the National Park Service and Idaho Department of Parks and Recreation.

Unique granite formations, some towering as high as 600 feet, provide world class rock climbing. Some of the oldest rock west of the Mississippi River is also found in the reserve. Remnants of the California and Salt Lake Alternate Trails are visible and protected within the reserve’s boundary. An abundance of wildflowers, many species of birds, and other wildlife offer numerous opportunities for viewing and photographing.

The area’s historical and geological features, grand vistas, and opportunities for recreation make this a must-see during any visit to Idaho.

Recreational Opportunities

World class rock climbing, camping, hiking, picnicking, mountain biking, horseback riding, wildlife viewing, hunting, interpretive programs, photography, and winter activities are all available at City of Rocks.
